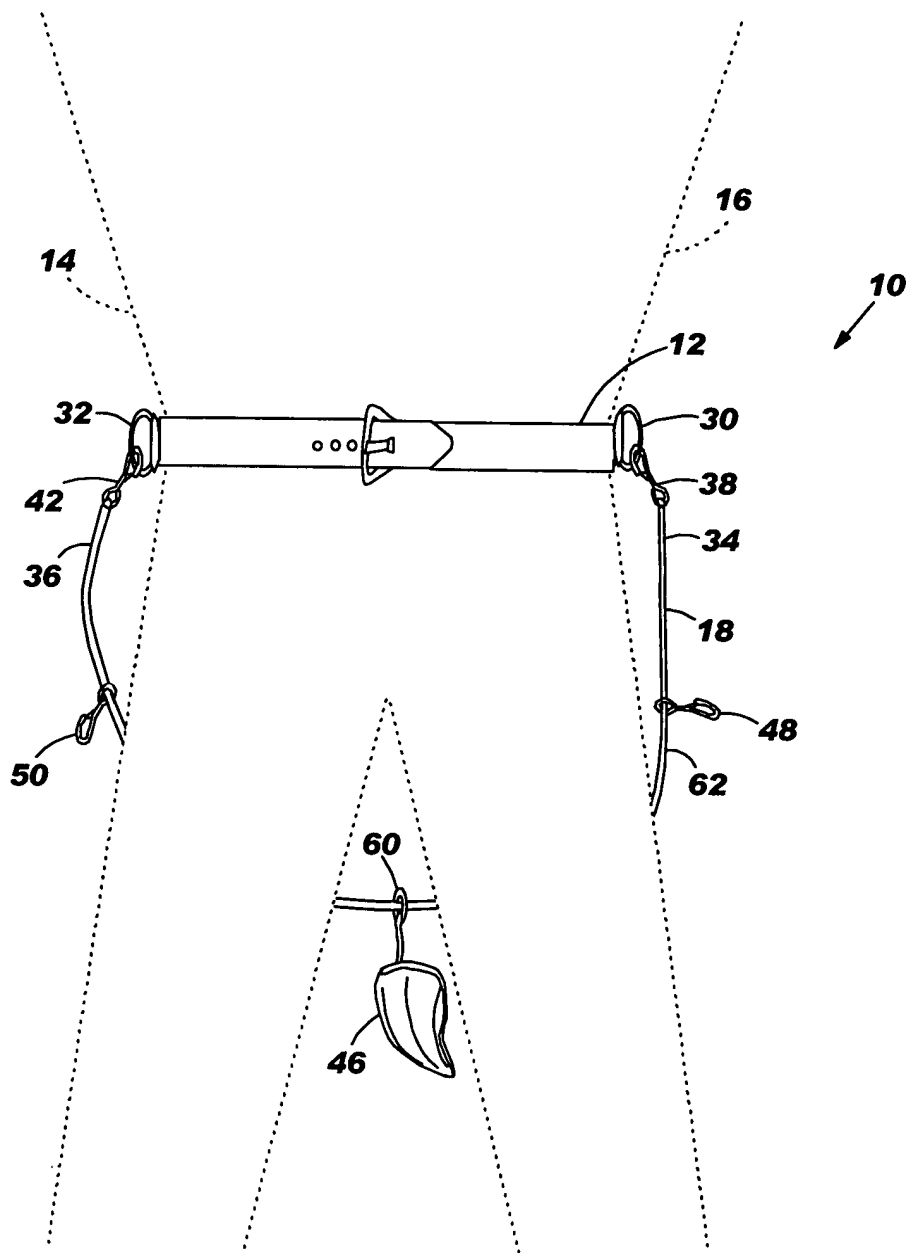

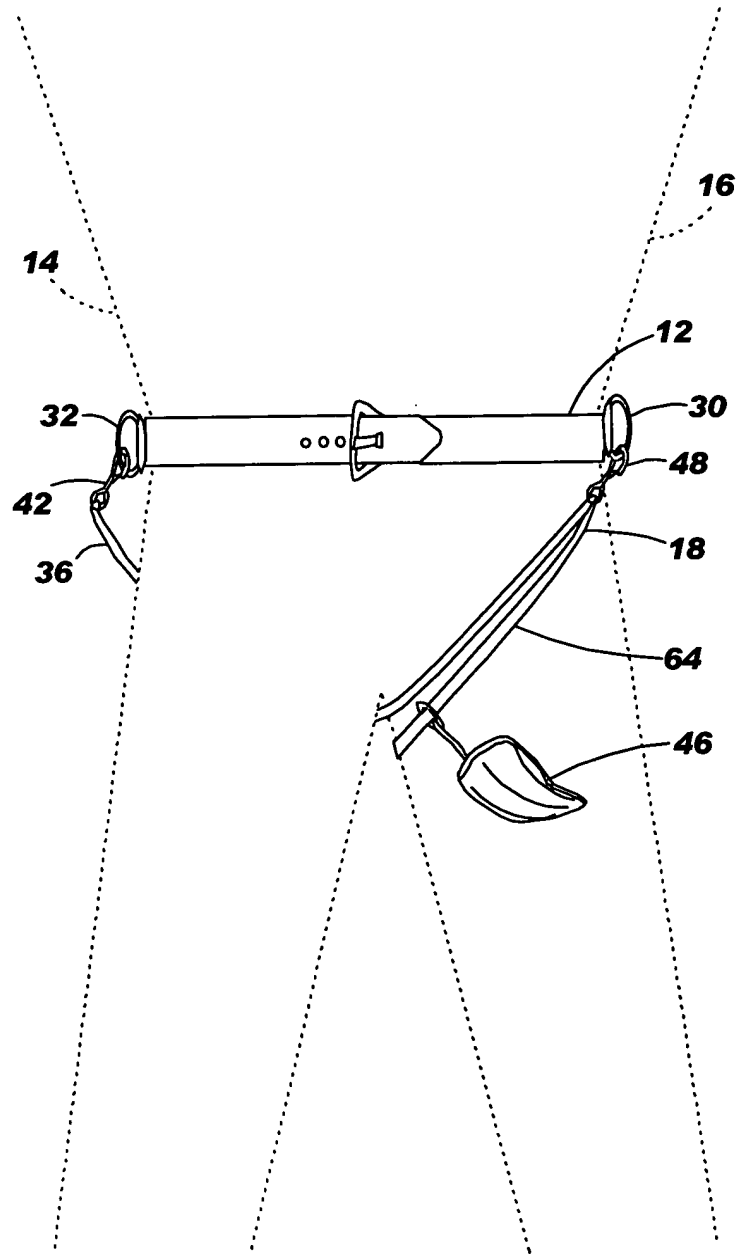

FIG. 4

This diagram illustrates a waist support device. It features a horizontal band (12) with two rings (30, 32) at its ends. Two curved straps (18, 36) are attached to these rings via connectors (48, 42). The straps converge at a central point (50) where they are joined by a connector (64). The device is shown within a dashed outline (16) representing a human torso.
